Lubin Pathe Kalem
MISS FLORENCE LAURENCE

A REBELLIOUS BLOSSOM—Lubin
The central figure in this story is a charming, 17-year-old girl of the tom-boy type. The plot is novel and there's a double wedding at the end. It's a dandy.

THE RUNAWAY LEOPARD—Pathe
No fake. A real live genuine leopard gets loose in an apartment house. He visits every floor with side-splitting results. He finally enters a millinery shop. Fun, well I guess.

SIMPLE IKE DECIDES TO MARRY—Kalem
A Western comedy. This production was made on one of the large ranches in Southern California.

$20,000 FARM SOLD

Edward E. Reindollar has sold 200 acres of his farm at the northern edge of Taneytown (the Swope farm) to George K. Sauble, at $100.00 per acre. This includes the main buildings and the land adjacent to the Emmitsburg road. The remainder of the property, about 152 acres, will likely be sold soon, as there are several bidders for it. "The Carroll Record" of Taneytown in commenting on the sale says: "The sale of this property, as well as others in Taneytown district, this year, demonstrates that farm values in the neighborhood are on a higher level than for years, which speaks well for the general desirability of the section as a whole."

CHILDREN VISIT THE CONVENTION

Pretty Feature of County Sabbath School Association Convention when Several Hundred Children Attended Afternoon Session.

The visit of between four hundred and five hundred public school children to the Friday afternoon session of the twelfth annual convention of the Adams County Sabbath School Association was the most significant feature of the two days' meetings.

"Here is the vision of which we have been hearing" declared Rev. John Jay Hill the president, as the little tots from the High Street building and the older children from the Meade Building marched into College Lutheran church, occupying three fourths of the main auditorium floor. "Here is the responsibility which confronts us and the opportunity which is ours."

The business of the convention was entirely suspended to give the children a half hour's program. The tots from the primary grades sang vigorously "When He Cometh" and as their sweet little voices rang through the church there were many, possibly remembering the days when they used to sing the song at the opening of school, whose eyes showed signs of tears.

W. D. Reel, one of the state field workers at the convention, made an appropriate address to the little ones and then the pupils from the Meade Building sang "Sunbeams" as the church was flooded with the subject of their song.

And then the entire audience, children, delegates and visitors, led by a portion of the Chautauqua Choir, joined in the hearty singing of "America." It was the most inspiring feature of a convention filled for its attendants with inspiration.

Officers were elected Friday afternoon for the coming year as follows, president, Rev. John Jay Hill, Littlestown; treasurer, H. T. Weaver, Gettysburg; corresponding secretary, Miss Lily Dougherty, Gettysburg; recording secretary, Miss Rhea March, Abbotstown. In addition the department superintendents were made vice presidents of the association. They are Prof. L. A. Parsons, A. M. Leebach, H. W. Swartz, A. B. Trimmer, M. L. Power and E. Cecil Stover.

Resolutions were passed thanking all who had contributed in one way or another to the success of the convention and a special resolution was adopted Friday evening, by a rising vote of practically all of the large congregation present. It expressed disapproval of the action of Hon. James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, in accepting the presidency of the National Brewers' Congress and consenting to preside over its sessions. The resolution also requested him to reconsider his action. Copies will be sent to Hon. Mr. Wilson and President Taft.

Friday afternoon the program of the convention was carried out as announced with addresses by Rev. D. T. Koser, Dr. W. A. Korn, W. D. Reel, and Rev. F. E. Taylor. In the evening after the opening song service and the devotional service two addresses were made, one by President Granville, of Gettysburg College, and the other by Rev. Dr. John Ellery Tuttle, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, York.

In addition to the singing by the Chautauqua Choir, Miss Ruth Clutz sang a solo Friday evening and Miss Helen Rupp and Edgar Miller a duet with the choir.

With the singing of the "Immanuel" song the convention came to a close Friday evening. Next year's convention will be held in Bendersville.

ROBBERS IN LITTLESTOWN

Supposed Gang, after Operating in Carroll County Towns, Takes in Littlestown and Enters Several Homes. No Booty Secured.

Littlestown was visited early Friday morning by several robbers who entered two houses but failed to get any booty. The men are supposed to have been the same as those who entered a number of homes in Westminster, Union Mills and Hampstead. At only one of these towns was anything gotten and there $100 is said to have been secured.

At Littlestown the homes of Milton Feeser and Henry Huff were entered but the families knew nothing of the visits of the intruders until they arose in the morning when windows on the first floor were found raised and matches were found on the floor. At both houses there was money within reach but apparently the would be burglars feared waking the family and left after a rather superficial search.

Sheriff Ben D. Kemper, of Carroll County, Maryland, is searching for the men while officers here are also on the lookout following word from the Carroll County officer.

The men are thought to have traveled quite rapidly as the first night of their operations a number of places were visited, all of which are thought to have been by the same persons.

BRYSONIA

Brysonia, Sept. 30.—Mrs. Elizabeth Orner and Mrs. Pius Orner and son, Arnold, of Arendtsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Funt, of Spring Grove, visited at David Orner's recently.

Those who attended the funeral of Leander Rice from this place were David Thomas and wife, Curtis, Charles, Ella and Blanche Thomas and Ralph Beemer.

George Fohl had the misfortune to cut his knee.

Mrs. George Showers is still on the sick list. Kathleen Warren is on the sick list. Mrs. Ellen Cooley is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Rosie Crum visited at S. J. Taylor's Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lucy Fritz of McKnightstown, visited her sister, Mrs. Lovina Orner, and Mrs. George Showers recently.

The farmers are busy sowing their grain in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Everly and son, and Mrs. Calvin Bushey, of Allentown, are visiting relatives in this vicinity, the guests of James L. Taylor.

Mrs. Edie Weirman, of Arendtsville, visited her aunt, Ella Showers, on Wednesday.

Those who visited Mrs. Ella Showers on Sunday were Mrs. Elmina Funt, Mr. and Mrs. David Orner, Miss Anna Taylor, Mrs. Blaine Warren, George P. Taylor and Mrs. Sadie Shoep. Little Myron Morrison calls to see her every day.

Mrs. R. W. Taylor and daughters Anna, spent a day in Gettysburg recently.

The chestnut crop in this section is a fair one and they are beginning to drop from the burs.

DOG MAY NOT RUN RABBITS

The following letter from Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, gives some information to farmers:

"In regard to running rabbits by dogs I would say the only remedy is the killing of the dog so found. Any land owner or lessee of lands may kill any dog found on his premises running rabbits out of season if the dog does not wear a collar to which is attached a tag and a name plate, giving the name and address of the owner in English if the dog so found does have a collar and a tag the owner of the dog must first be notified to keep his dog off the land in question or have his dog killed, in which case if the dog again comes on the land in question the owner of the land may kill it."

TO GIVE AWAY MANY APPLES

Carload or More Adams County Apples will be Given away at Big Fruit Show in Pittsburgh. Local Fruit as Good as Western.

In order to demonstrate that in Pennsylvania can be grown apples superior in quality to those shipped in from the west, one carload of apples of Adams county will be given away at the Pennsylvania fruit, livestock and dairy show to be held in Pittsburgh from January 15 to 20.

C. J. Tyson, of Floradale, secretary of the State Horticultural Society, and one of the three men managing the show says that an Adams county apple will be given to every one entering the gates.

"If one carload isn't enough," he said, "we'll have two carloads there."

Practically all the orchards in the county have been sold and the work of harvesting the crop will be started on Monday, continuing then for several weeks as the fall and winter varieties are ready for picking.

Apple talk is the one topic of the upper end these days and those not living in that section scarcely realize the activity and the big business interests in the fruit belt.

McSHERRYSTOWN

McSherrystown, Sept. 30.—William Eckenrode and wife, of York, visited at Dr. V. H. Lilly's Thursday.

Miss Regina Brenner, of Baltimore, accompanied by her sister, Miss Rebecca Brenner, of Hanover, spent Thursday with the family of their aunt, Mrs. V. H. Lilly.

Miss Alice Neely, of Fairfield, spent Wednesday night with George F. Bender and family, Main street. She left next morning to visit points in New Jersey.

Ezra Topper, of North street, has returned from near Washington, D. C., where he spent the past eleven months on a large poultry farm. Accompanied by a friend, he visited York, Harrisburg, Carlisle, Hagerstown, Gettysburg, and other points.

Charles F. Smith, North street, visited the Lancaster Fair Thursday.

George, a son of Lewis Cramer, of Main street, who had been ill with typhoid fever is improving.

Charles Graft, the local green grocer, has rented one of the Delone offices next to the old S. L. Johns factory, and will conduct therein an up-to-date fruit and green grocery stand.

Roger A. Smith and Hugh Topper, of this place, spent Sunday with Hon. Howard Dicks, at Dick Grove, along the Conewago. Judge Dicks just returned from a moose hunting trip in Maine, which he thoroughly enjoyed. He was much impressed and speaks enthusiastically of the country he visited.

PROPERTIES FOR DAMAGES

The two Keopert properties handed over to Littlestown borough in settlement of damage suit brought against the borough by Miss Josephine Smith, of Hanover, were sold at public sale. The one at end of East King street, now occupied by Messrs William Hornberger and William Dixon, was purchased by Mrs. William R. Smucker for $2,101; the one on South Queen street, opposite the United Brethren Church, was purchased by George F. Krug for $2,205.

THE GIRL AND THE TRAMP

Comedy is the big feature of The Girl and the Tramp which will be seen at the Wizard Theatre one night only, October 9. The play is a new one and has just enough plot to make a frame which is clothed with a series of funny incidents and stirring situations. The story told is how a girl and tramp befriended a woman who is separated from her husband and how they finally succeed in bringing them together again.

McCAUSLIN-SAUL

Miss Mary Delena Saul, of 529 Seneca street, Philadelphia, and Clarence Edward McCauslin, of Bendersville, were quietly married in Philadelphia, September 20th. Following a prolonged honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. McCauslin will be home to their friends at 527 Seneca street, after December 1st.

SHOT AT THE WARDENS

The State Game Commission is informed of the attempt to kill two deputy game wardens in Fulton county. Joseph Kennedy and Ralph Rosa, two deputies, were hunting game violators in the wilds of Fulton county and came upon a man engaged in shooting wild squirrels out of season. On attempting to arrest him the wardens were fired upon, and only by throwing themselves on the ground did they escape death. They chased him across the Maryland line but could not catch him. Shortly afterward the two wardens caught the Mayor of Hancock, Maryland, shooting squirrels out of season and without a Pennsylvania license, and promptly arrested him. Two other game wardens caught three Fulton countians killing deer, with a dead fawn and doe in their possession and after a fight, in which the wardens were fired at, the men were arrested and fined, but will have to answer a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill.

HUSBAND BEATS HIS WIFE

While drunk, Joseph Shorb, of near Emmitsburg, severely beat his wife and drove her and his family from home. An officer was summoned but Shorb was not arrested.

His family was given permission to leave him. They all appeared against the father and said he had been causing trouble for the past few weeks. After the family had all moved from the home of the drunken man, he tried to tear down the house, smashing out all the window panes.

The family are now living in a house they have rented from a man named Wetzel. Shorb has called and asked the family to come back, saying he will do better, but his wife refuses.

NEW CONDUCTOR AND SCHEDULE

Emory Melhorn, of New Oxford, is the new conductor on the Berlin Branch Railroad. Mr. Walter, the retiring conductor, moved to Hanover where he will work for the Western Maryland Railroad. Mr. Walter has been in the employ of the Berlin road almost seventeen years.

The new schedule on the Berlin Branch went into effect last Sunday. Trains leave East Berlin daily, except Sundays, at 6:00 and 8:35 a. m. and 3:35 p. m. Returning trains arrive at 7 and 10:15 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. The Sunday train will be continued and leaves Berlin at 9:35 a. m. and 3:35 p. m.

NEW BLOCHER COACH SHOP

The old coach shop of the T. S. Blocher's Sons Work, Littlestown, has been torn down. This was one of the oldest buildings in that town and was occupied by the late T. S. Blocher for over fifty years. Charles Blocher, the present owner, will erect a modern building, connecting it to the present 2-story repository. The addition will be 50 feet long and two stories high. To this will be added a modern fire-proof garage.

FINE W. VIRGINIA HORSE COLTS

Sucklings, Yearlings and Two and Three Year Olds, at Aaron Schlosser's Hotel Stables, Biglerville, Adams Co., Pa.
They come direct from West Virginia, the kind that always grow in value and demand the highest cash prices.

They are not bronchos, but the right kind to make heavy draft and fine drivers.
Most of them are mare colts and will grow up and make fine brood mares. This is the only year for years that the Virginia farmers sell their colts on account of no feed. This is my seventh sale of colts this season and am glad to say that I have sold every head. No bye bidders, everybody bids for themselves at my sales.

Sale to start at 1 o'clock p. m., rain or shine. Liberal credit will be given.

MORGAN STIRS WASHINGTON

Visit to Oculist Caused Rumors of Steel Trust Conference.

Washington, Sept. 30. — The presence in Washington of J. P. Morgan, of New York, occasioned a considerable flurry in connection with the recent statement made on behalf of the United States Steel corporation.

It was reported that Mr. Morgan was in Washington to confer with Attorney General Wickham about the government's attitude towards the steel corporation.

But the attorney general did not arrive in Washington, and when Mr. Morgan was seen by newspaper men at the Arlington hotel he said very frankly that he had not come for a conference and did not expect to have any, but that his visit to Washington was purely on private business.

This was confirmed later, when Mr. Morgan went to the office of his oculist, Dr. Wilmer, and remained for some time having his collection of eyeglasses and spectacles readjusted.

PRIMARY ELECTION IN PHILADELPHIA

Record Vote Being Brought Out in Mayoralty Fight.

Philadelphia, Sept. 30. — With the sole exception of the backers of former Judge Dimmer Beeber, the campaign managers of the three Republican and two Keystone candidates for mayor claim the victory at today's primary election.

Leaders in the Earle camp declare that George H. Earle, Jr., will win in a walk. Hugh Black, chairman of the Vane campaign committee, asserts that there is a ground swell for the recorder. Blankenburg enthusiasts insist that it is all over but the shouting, that their veteran standard bearer will sweep everything before him and win the Keystone party nomination with thousands of votes to spare. D. Clarence Gibboney's adherents are confident that he will obtain the Keystone nomination.

It is taken for granted in many quarters that the vote will be by far the greatest ever polled at a primary election in this city, and even if the more moderate expectations are realized it will be a larger vote than has been recorded at a general election in Philadelphia.

The police, acting under orders given by Mayor Reyburn, made a house-to-house canvass, and the belief is that today's fight at the polls will be the cleanest waged in years.

Jersey Saves Million.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 30. — The court of errors and appeals in a Newark case affirms a supreme court decision and sustains the collateral inheritance tax act of 1894, thus saving the state $1,000,000 that otherwise would have had to be refunded to various estates. It was said the law had a constitutional defect.

TAFT, CUMMINS DISCUSS TREATIES

Interesting Incident Attends
Visit to Des Moines.

AGREES WITH INSURGENT

The President Discussed the Tariff at Ottawa and Asked Support For His Revision Policy This Winter.

Ottawa, Ia., Sept. 30. — The two days' visit to Iowa is finished and President Taft left insurgent territory until his return through the northwest late in October. The president ended his speechmaking here, as he began it, discussing the tariff.

He had an audience of some 3000 people, and he impressed upon them again his desire for their support next winter when he will recommend a tariff revision in accordance with the demands of their state Republican platform, and gained the crowd's applause with his earnest promise that he had pledged to do with respect to the tariff. He told them that he expected, as president, to be criticised by the press and by politicians, but that he felt certain the common sense of the people would go behind such censure and judge the situation upon the facts. Support from the Republicans of Iowa, if he conforms next winter with the dictates of their platform, is the plea that the president has sounded in every address which he has made on the tariff in this state, and it seems to have taken with his audience.

The president gained Senator Cummins, who has consistently opposed him in nearly every policy, to the support of his arbitration treaties. The insurgent senator's capitulation followed upon the heels of a peace speech which the president made at Des Moines before an audience of 4000 people.

The applause of the crowd was emphatic, and at the conclusion of the address Senator Cummins, who for the first and only time during the president's visit, was upon the platform with him, began to discuss the treaties which the president as he was leaving the hall. The senator pointed out a number of provisions which he thought should be altered. One of these was to make more definite the provisions as to the personnel of the proposed high joint commission and to provide for the confirmation of the American representatives by the senate.

The senator said the treaties did not make it obligatory upon the president to appoint American citizens on the commission. President Taft said he thought that was clearly understood, but he was perfectly willing to have it specifically stated.

Senator Cummins also said he insisted upon the treaties being debated in open session of the senate.

"I'm with you on that," said the president.

Girl Fatally Burned.
Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 30. — Mary, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simon Kerchulis, of Lost Creek, met with an awful accident. She was playing with companions that was a waste paper fire in the back yard, when her clothing caught fire. She ran screaming, the wind fanning the flames, which quickly enveloped her. A human torch, she broke through a paling fence and had gone about 100 yards when caught by Joseph Seckert, who threw a blanket about her, extinguishing the flames. She was horribly and fatally burned.

Reading Brakeman Killed.
Norristown, Pa., Sept. 30. — James Smyrl, of Norristown, was killed on the Reading railway at Abram's, opposite this town. Fellow members of the freight crew missed him when the train reached Bridgeport. Going back, they found his body on the tracks. It is supposed that he fell under the wheels while attempting to get on the engine.

Big Attendance at U. of P.
Philadelphia, Sept. 30. — The University of Pennsylvania opened with a record breaking attendance. Registration has not yet been completed, but the number of students enrolled will be well over 5700. Nearly all departments show an increase.

"That member of congress says you have voted for him for the last fifteen years."
"That's right," replied Farmer Corn-tassel.
"You must think a lot of him."
"Well, I dunno. You see, fifteen years ago I had a couple o' boss trades with him, an' since then I've alius felt safer with him spendin' so much of his time in Washington." — Washington Star.

Ely In Squally Wind Plunges Into Atwood at Canton, O.

Canton, O., Sept. 30. — While circling around one end of the aviation field here Eugene B. Ely plunged to the ground from height of 100 feet and struck Harry B. Atwood's machine on the way down.

Ely was cut about the head, but not seriously injured. The front of his machine was badly damaged. Atwood was uninjured, and his machine was hardly scratched in this first aerial collision.

The squally wind was responsible for the accident.

SECRETARY WILSON'S SON RESIGNS

Foreshadows Other Changes in Agricultural Department.

Washington, Sept. 30. — A stir was caused here by an official announcement from the department of agriculture that Jasper Wilson, son of Secretary Wilson, had resigned as private secretary to his father and would go into business in the west.

The resignation will take effect on Monday. The nature of the future business is not given out. The young man is now in the west on his vacation.

It is believed that this announcement is preliminary to other changes in the department. Jasper Wilson has been a close friend of Solicitor McCabe, and his resignation is regarded as foreshadowing the retirement of McCabe, and more than this, as indicating that Secretary Wilson does not expect to remain much longer in office.

The successor to young Mr. Wilson as private secretary will be E. M. Reece, executive clerk, who has been twenty years in the department. Jasper Wilson never has been mentioned in connection with the cabal against Dr. Wiley in the department, but there is no doubt where his sympathies have been.

Germany's Chief Aviator Killed.
Berlin, Sept. 30. — Captain Englehardt, the pioneer German aviator, fell and was killed during the aviation week program at Johannisthal field. Englehardt was trained by the Wright brothers and was the leading aviation authority in Germany.

NATIONAL LEAGUE TO OUST LYNCH

Five Club Owners Said to Have Agreed to Oppose Him.

HEYDLER MAY HEAD CIRCUIT.

Pittsburg and Cincinnati Favor Him
For Position—Dreyfuss to Lead Fight on Fogel and Russell—May Bring Out Syndicate Features.

Thomas J. Lynch will not be president of the National league following the annual meeting of the league directors the second Monday of next December. Five of the league presidents have agreed to oppose him. These five are Murphy of Chicago, Herrmann of Cincinnati, Ebbets of Brooklyn, Stininger of St. Louis and Dreyfuss of Pittsburg. By some means, which is not made clear, neither Fogel of Philadelphia nor Russell of Boston is expected to have a vote at the annual meeting, and Brush of New York is expected to support Lynch for another term unless he sees a great light in the meantime.

"The passing of Lynch" was planned at Chicago when the board of directors met to pass upon the Lynch ruling in the case of Sherwood Magee, the Phillie outfielder, who had been suspended for striking Umpire Finnegan. At that time several of the directors got together and decided Lynch was not the man for the job. Lynch heard of it and became stubborn. He refused absolutely to change his ruling in the Magee case—that is, he did at first, and then he began angling for votes which would re-elect him president of the league.

While he was given no promise of support, at least two of the magnates intimated that they might support him at the annual election, but he would have to go along with them and reinstate Magee. At the same time these very magnates were planning to make another man president. Therefore Mr. Lynch is due for a fine young double crossing. The five young magnates who propose to run the league are divided as to whom they want to succeed Lynch.

Dreyfuss and Herrmann, it is understood, are favorable to John A. Heydler, secretary and former president of the league. The race appears to be between Heydler and Francis Richter of Sporting Life. The position has been tendered to Richter in the past, but he has refused to accept it, declaring that it would require all his time and he could not neglect his business.

In connection with the next league meeting it is rumored that Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburg will lead the fight to prevent Fogel of Philadelphia and Russell of Boston from voting. It is understood now that should these men become insistent in their desire to vote Dreyfuss will expose the whole structure of "syndicate baseball" and will endeavor to prove not only to the directors, but to the public at large, that not only does the Chicago club own the Phillies, but the New York National league club controls President Russell and the Boston Nationals.

BALL PLAYING GREAT BALL.

Brilliant Game of Naps' Second Baseman is Surprise of Season.

Little, frail, nervous Neal Ball, who has been dilling Larry Lajoie's shoes at second base for the Cleveland Americans, is one of the biggest surprises of the season. If any one had predicted last spring that Trip would hit at a .300 clip this season an insanity inquest would have been held.

forthwith. But that is what he is doing now, and his fielding is just as sensational. And Neal "came back" just at the right time. When Larry was hurt the Naps were in sore straits for a second baseman. Ball was shoved in the breach, and the fans laughed. But Neal made good, and it's a big undertaking to attempt to fill Larry's shoes.

told him he was wasting his time on perpetual motion. I said that there ought to be a law forbidding all perpetual motion work."
"Do you think," said he, "that a law forbidding work on perpetual motion would do much good?"
"I'm sure it would," said I.
"And yet you must remember," said Mr. Gernand with a twinkle in his eye, "that there was a law forbidding apples in the garden of Eden." — Los Angeles Times.

ITALY OPENS WAR ON TURKEY

Lands Troops in Tripoli and Prevesa.

SINKS TURKISH DESTROYER

Surrender of Port of Tripoli Was Refused Commander of Italian Fleet on Demand and Invasion Begins.

Saloniki, European Turkey, Sept. 30.—An Italian cruiser has destroyed a Turkish destroyer in the harbor of Prevesa, in Epirus, and landed troops. The Turkish authorities are sending a battalion of troops to Prevesa.

Italy Lands Troops in Tripoli. Rome, Sept. 30.—Italy declared war upon Turkey, following by landing forces in Tripoli after the commander of the port there had refused an offer to surrender.

The declaration of war was made upon the expiration of the twenty-four hours' grace allowed the Porte to answer the ultimatum of Italy, which was delivered in Constantinople. The declaration took effect at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and immediately was flashed to the commander of the Italian fleet off Tripoli, with directions to land the forces and begin a blockade of the entire coast of Tripoli and Cyrenaica. Notification of this action also was communicated to the neutral powers.

Before landing forces the commander of the Italian fleet sent a messenger, under a flag of truce, to the Turkish commander of the port, asking his surrender. When this was refused the invasion began.

The Turkish cabinet has resigned. Said Pasha, the president of the senate, has been appointed grand vizier; Kiamil Pasha has been appointed foreign minister, while Shevket Pasha remains minister of war.

Italy will provide for the safety of Italians and all other foreigners in Tripoli and Cyrene, using to this end all the means at her disposal. The blockade of the entire coast of Tripoli and Cyrenaica will be undertaken immediately, and a notification of this act will be sent to all neutral powers.

The hour at which the Italian ultimatum to Turkey expired was followed by a session of the cabinet, at which the Turkish reply was considered and found unsatisfactory.

Through every indication pointed to this action by the royal government, there was always a possibility that the good offices of other governments would be successful in avoiding hostilities, and when the final decision of the cabinet was announced the excitement throughout Rome was intense.

Throughout the earlier hours of the day the papers had issued special editions announcing that the Italian fleet was moving in plain sight off the coast of Tripoli and intimating that war might be declared at any moment.

The minister of foreign affairs, Signor Di San Giuliano, received the Turkish reply from the Turkish ambassador and immediately went into conference with his associates in the ministry. It is understood that the Ottoman government completely conceded Italy's economic claims in Tripoli, but evaded a direct answer demanded by this government, which had set forth in its ultimatum that Turkey must say that she would not resist the proposed occupation of Tripoli and Cyrene.

Instead the Porte sent a conciliatory note suggesting further delay. It was known that at the same time Turkey transmitted a note to the powers in which it is assumed that she represented herself as the injured party, and by inference at least, sought their intervention.

The royal government decided to stand absolutely by their ultimatum, and in the absence of the reply called for, to declare Italy and Turkey in a state of war from the hour that the ultimatum of twenty-four hours expired.

TURKS CRY FOR REVENGE

Sultan's Ministers Made Conciliatory Reply to Italy's Ultimatum.

Constantinople, Turkey, Sept. 30.—The Turkish reply to the Italian ultimatum demanding assurances that there will be no resistance to the Italian military occupation of Tripoli and Cyrene was communicated to the Italian charge, Signor Di Martino.

The message was couched in friendly terms and expressed surprise at the action of Italy, in view of the cordial relations existing between the two countries. It pointed out that Italian interests in Tripoli had not been threatened and expressed the hope that Italy would desist from her contemplated measures. Assurance was given of Turkey's desire for a settlement of the questions pending between the two governments.

Public indignation has been intense since the Italian demands were made known.

The Tanin, in a violent article accuses Italy of acting as an ordinary brigand and says that Turkey will respond with hatred and enmity, and the ultimatum will be the prelude to the thunder of cannon. It adds:

"Turkey is not going to make a pretense of defending Tripoli and accept peace after the formal exchange of a few cannon shots. From the moment there will be implacable hatred between Italians and Turks. Not the face of an Italian shall be seen in our towns. Not an Italian flag in our ports. Vengeance must dominate every other feeling. For vengeance we shall live, and we shall succeed."

The government has decided to enforce martial law in Constantinople for the present. The population was quiet, but it was feared that an actual rupture in the relations with Italy may lead to riots.

Telegrams from various towns of the empire announce that the Moslem youths are volunteering for a war against Italy. The Italian officers in the Turkish service left, having been recalled by their government.

One report was that the Turkish government had decided not to resist the Italian landing at Tripoli. The public, especially military circles, are unanimous for resisting Italy at all costs.

STRAUS URGES U. S. TO ACT

Wants This Nation to Prevent War Between Christians and Mohammedans.

New York, Sept. 30.—Oscar S. Straus sent a telegram to Secretary of State Knox at Washington, urging that the United States should exercise its right under the convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes, to preserve peace and prevent war between the Mohammedan and Christian nations of the world.

Mr. Straus was formerly the United States ambassador to Turkey.

CAPTAIN HAINS FREE NEXT WEEK

Slayer of William E. Annis to be Given Freedom.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Captain Peter C. Hains, the slayer of William E. Annis, now serving a term in Sing Sing prison, will be given his liberty next week as the result of a pardon granted by Governor Dix.

The governor told the lawyer for the Hains family, Colonel Asa Bird Gardiner, that the facts as he stated them warranted his granting the pardon, and that it would be issued during the early part of next week.

An underkeeper at Sing Sing prison made affidavit that Captain Hains was in such a condition of health that he would not live six months longer in prison.

Thornton Jenkins Hains, the story writer, who was tried as an accessory with his brother to the murder, but was acquitted, declared that Captain Hains will start for South America the moment he is discharged from prison, and that he will take up his life there in some business pursuit. He is a fluent Spanish scholar.

The only note of objection heard against the pardoning of the officer who killed the man who had broken up his home came from Mrs. Louise von Humerbein, the mother of Mrs. Annis, who is quoted as expressing indignation at the governor's decision. Mrs. Hains, the divorced wife of the captain, is now living in retirement in East Milton, Mass.

CUTS FATHER, SAVE MOTHER

Girl Arrested on Serious Charge Exonerated by Her Victim.

Pittsburg, Sept. 30.—Charles Stinson, fifty-eight years old, is in the Passavant hospital in a critical condition from a stab wound under the heart, alleged to have been inflicted by his daughter, May, sixteen years old. The girl was arrested.

It is alleged that Stinson returned to his home and began abusing his wife, and the girl, who saw blood running from her mother's lacerated scalp, picked up a butcher knife and stabbed her father in defense of her mother.

The police say that when they questioned Stinson in the hospital he told them that he was at fault, and exonerated his daughter from blame for his injury.

MAN FEARFULLY INJURED

Fell From Scaffold and Crowbar Passed Through Body.

Fulton, Va., Sept. 30.—Although a crowbar passed through his body when he fell from a scaffold while at work at the plant of the Richmond Gunpowder company, Luther Simmons, a young man who came here several months ago from Wilmington, Del., is still alive at the Retreat for the Sick, and the doctors believe he has a chance for recovery.

The huge piece of iron preceded Simmons as he fell from the scaffold, and as it struck the ground assumed an upright position just as he fell upon it. The bar struck him in the back and passed clear through, coming out at a point near the right shoulder.

Soldiers Killed by Explosion.

Sparta, Wis., Sept. 30.—Corporal Rowland Beverly and Private Howard W. Sawyer, of the Cleveland battery, were seriously injured in the explosion.

STRIKE ORDER CALLS OUT 35,000

Shopmen on All Harriman Lines Quit Work.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

The Companies Refuse to Recognize the New Federation of Shop Employees.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The long threatened strike of shopmen on the Harriman lines, including the Illinois Central, became a reality this morning, when about 35,000 men in thirty-one cities, from New Orleans to San Francisco, quit work. Five unions are involved.

The union presidents say more than 90 per cent of the men have quit work. The fight, they say, is likely to prove long drawn out. The railroads, on the other hand, say a great majority of the men refused to leave their work.

The railroads are in good shape to stand a strike now, according to their officials. A retrenchment order recently issued reduced the number of employees nearly 25 per cent, and there is a sufficient number of idle men in all crafts to permit the roads to keep their shops running, even if all of the men go out.

This was denied by President Kline, of the blacksmiths' union, who said the men the railroads are counting on to fill the places of strikers are men who were laid off recently and who are union men and would refuse to work during a strike.

The strike was ordered because the railroads for the third time flatly refused to recognize the Federation of Shop Employees in the manner that they now deal with the individual unions comprised in the federation.

It is said that both the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems have for the last three months been preparing for a strike and have had every piece of rolling stock in the shops, so that it is all in the best possible condition. The opinion was expressed today that the shops could be shut down for two or three months before the condition of the rolling stock would interfere seriously with the operation of the roads.

The clerks' strike, which already has handicapped shipping on the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi in the south, has spread to the freight handlers in New Orleans, 100 men walking out.

Three strikers and sympathizers were arrested for alleged violation of the federal injunction, and the Georgia & Florida railroad's firemen are out because of the refusal of the railroad to grant a wage increase. On the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, union men say, more than 2000 men are out.

REYES RAN AWAY

Flight From Mexico Is Regarded as Exhibition of Fear.

Mexico City, Sept. 30.—The flight of General Bernardo Reyes, who was the rival of Francisco I. Madero and who sailed from Vera Cruz for Havana and New York, is generally regarded here as an exhibition of unwarranted fear of personal violence, since little stock is taken in General Reyes' allegations of the existence of a Maderist plot to assassinate or imprison him.

In a published interview General Reyes declared he had knowledge of such a plot. Although much speculation as to the possibility of his conspiring at a secret military opposition to Madero is being indulged in, such speculation is not being taken seriously, since it is conceded that General Reyes' following has dwindled to a point where such a plan would be futile.

General Reyes' departure has greatly simplified the task of President de la Barra and others in bringing about a peaceful election.

RED CROSS RECOGNIZED

President Taft's Proclamation Fixes Official Status.

Washington, Sept. 30.—President Taft in a proclamation just made public declares the American National Red Cross "is the only volunteer society now authorized by the government to render aid to its land and naval forces in time of war."

Any other body desiring to render similar assistance could do so, the president says, only through the Red Cross.

E. P. Bicknell, director of the Red Cross, explained the proclamation settled all doubt as to the authority of the society, avoiding any friction that might lessen the efficiency of relief work.

Daughter Helped Rob Father.

Boston, Sept. 30.—On a charge of robbing a safe in a Back Bay residence, George H. Rogers, of New York, was held for further examination. The police say that young Rogers confessed that he and Miss Vivian Jacobs, daughter of the man robbed, went to the home of the young woman's father, and after finding that they could not manipulate the combination of the safe, sent for an expert, who opened the strong box. Mr. Jacobs refused to make any complaint against his daughter.

NEW TALES THAT ARE TOLD

Thanks For the Bishop.

The archbishop of Canterbury is known among his friends as especially partial to two things—children and jokes—and is rather fond of telling the following story against himself:

As bishop of London he was one day walking in the suburbs of the British capital when he chanced upon a little girl who was standing looking up somewhat wistfully at a four-barred gate.

"Oh, please, sir," she asked, "will you open this gate for me?"

Smiling upon the demure maiden, the bishop lifted the latch and pushed back the gate, but in spite of its size it swung so easily that he said:

"You're such a big little girl that I should think you could yourself have opened so nice a gate as this."

"Oh, I could, sir," she replied, "but then I should have got my hands all over fresh paint."

And then the bishop saw that it was just what had happened to him.—Cosmopolitan.

A FREAKISH TEST OF SHREWDNESS.

How an Embryo Detective Proved His Skill.

Mayor Gaynor at a dinner in Brooklyn condemned certain ideas of civil service that a German visitor from Berlin had recommended.

"Those ideas may do well in Berlin," he said, "but I don't think they'd do well here. We are opposed to freaks, and this new sort of civil service examination is as freakish as Old Sleuth."

"Old Sleuth, the detective chief, was once examining a new applicant for the detective bureau. He thrust into the young man's hand a pale mass of ruffles and lace and canbrie, a woman's skirt."

"Find the pocket in that," he said.

"But the applicant shook his head."

"No, chief, he admitted frankly. That's beyond me."

"Then Old Sleuth slapped him heartily on the back."

"If you're smart enough, my boy, be cried, 'to know it's no use to look for the pocket in a woman's skirt you're smart enough to be a detective. Here's your star.'"

Why He Kissed Her.

Daniel J. Shern was reminded of a story when he read the verdict in the breach of promise case against young Walling in New York.

"I was counsel for the girl in a case once," said the lawyer, "and I thought we had a good case. One of the strongest points was the ardent wooing of the defendant. He calculated at least 1244 kisses he had planted upon the fair one's ruby lips. Imagine our surprise when the defendant admitted it."

"That's true, said he, testifying: 'I had to do it, he explained."

"Had to do it? I roared, hoping to embarrass him."

"Yes," he answered, "I either had to keep kissing her constantly or permit her to sing, and—well, I preferred the kissing."—St. Paul Dispatch.

A Possible Contingency.

When James B. Reynolds, now a member of the tariff board, was as assistant secretary of the treasury, Senator Root, the secretary of state, sent for Reynolds to discuss with him matters concerning a trade conference in Paris which Reynolds had been selected to attend.

"By the way, Mr. Reynolds," said Mr. Root, "you speak French, I assume."

"Oh, yes," Reynolds replied, "I have a little French. I can make the waiters and cab drivers understand me."

"Um," said Root. "But, Mr. Reynolds, suppose these should be no waiters and cab drivers in the conference?"—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

AN AFFAIR OF BUSINESS

By EMMA BRINSLEY

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Ned Thornton, even at the time he was playing with toys, showed a bent for mechanics. When he was five years old and was given a mechanical toy dressed as a man, that would turn somersaults all alone by itself, he took it to pieces to discover how it was made. When he was ten he invented a mechanical toy for his own especial amusement.

"That boy must be a mechanical engineer," said his aunt. "Send him to a college where they teach such things, and I'll pay the bill."

So Ned was sent to college to study mechanical engineering. He was graduated with honors and was considered a genius. That was a time when the automobile was being developed, and he accepted a position with the Peterson Automobile company.

Mr. Peterson, the president, was a self-made man. He had begun life in a blacksmith shop and worked his way up to the presidency of the automobile company. He had conceived an idea that his success was due to a genius for mechanics. In this he was mistaken. It was due to his ability to save money and drive a sharp bargain. Mr. Peterson knew that in developing an automobile he needed certain knowledge Ned possessed; therefore he hired the young man and set him to work, telling him that "them colleges that teach mechanics is humbug."

Ned was not to do odds and ends of work and demonstrate automobiles, teaching purchasers how to run them when required. Now, the old fraud really intended to keep Ned for this purpose and when he got stalled for a necessary convenience for his autos to pump it out of him, taking the credit and the profit to himself. Ned, who loved the mechanical part of the business and detested the rest of it, was much disappointed, but he accepted the situation temporarily without a murmur.

His employer found in Ned the mechanical value he had expected. When ever the president found himself overworked he would contrive to get a solution of the problem out of Ned and at the same time make it appear that he was the originator of the idea used.

One day Ned was ordered to take an automobile to an expected purchaser and demonstrate it, selling it if possible. Ned was no salesman and had never sold an automobile since he was employed. Mr. Peterson, who had got out of Ned all the mechanical knowledge and efficiency in that direction he needed—or thought he had—told him that if he didn't sell the auto he might look for another place.

Ned made a chauffeur of himself for some time, but failed to make the sale. He reported that there was a defect in it that rendered it undesirable to the customer. Ned knew that the defect was fatal to the machine and knew a remedy, but he had got tired of furnishing ideas for $70 a month and resented all efforts to drag the solution out of him.

Time passed, and the capital of the company was slowly being eaten up. The Peterson machine was rendered unsalable by the defect that Ned had pointed out. The president retained his services notwithstanding that he did not sell the machine, hoping that at last Ned would solve the riddle for him. But Ned seemed very stupid about it, and one day Mr. Peterson told him that he must go. At the same time Ned learned that the company was about to go under for want of capital.

One day a Mr. Reynolds called on Mr. Peterson, informed him that he had heard he was in financial trouble and intimated that he would furnish it provided Peterson would resign as president in his favor. To avoid a failure Peterson consented, and after making an examination of the company's affairs Reynolds concluded the deal.

At a meeting of the directors Mr. Reynolds was elected president and at once astonished Peterson and the rest of them by appointing Ned Thornton general manager, with full control of the manufacturing of autos. Ned at once remedied the defect that was ruining the company and prosperity ensued.

The secret on which this change was based came out when everybody concerned in the Peterson Manufacturing company received cards to the wedding of Ned Thornton and Ethel Reynolds, daughter of the new president. The machine Ned had been demonstrating and on the selling of which his position had depended was intended for her use. For his services as chauffeur she had paid him with her heart.

When Ned went to the young lady's father to inform him of the situation he told the story of his connection with the Peterson Automobile company—how the president had appropriated his ideas as his own, made known the financial condition of the company and how the defect might be remedied. Mr. Reynolds, being a capitalist, conceived the idea of setting up in business the man whom he was willing to accept as his son-in-law. He retained only the financial management of the company, turning over the management of the business to Ned.

The young inventor made many developments in the automobile that brought him fortune.

Catarrh Sufferers

If You Don't Know About Hyomei Try It At The People's Drug Store's Risk.

Nearly every reader of The Gettysburg Times has read about HYOMEI, but many of them continue to suffer from catarrh just because they do not exactly understand just what HYOMEI is.

To these sufferers The People's Drug Store says you don't have to know anything about HYOMEI except that you breathe it and that it does not contain cocaine or opium or any harmful drug.

You can find out all about HYOMEI without taking any chances whatever. Just get an outfit today, read the simple instructions, give it a fair trial and then if you are not willing to say that it is the best remedy for catarrh you have ever used The People's Drug Store will gladly return your money.

A complete HYOMEI outfit costs but $1.00. Extra bottles 50 cents.

Old Heidelberg is justly celebrated for its castle, for the great tun therein which holds 83,000 bottles of wine and was actually filled on three occasions, and for the ancient university with one professor for each seven students; but perhaps the most interesting thing in the old city from one point of view is the Church of the Holy Ghost.

This church is one of the most ancient buildings in the town. Long ago a partition wall was run through the center, and services are held simultaneously according to the Roman Catholic and the Protestant rituals.

In the year 1791 the Elector, Charles Philip, attempted to stop the dual services, but this so offended the Heidelbergers that he was compelled not only to desist in this effort, but to remove the electoral court to Mannheim.—Harper's.

Outlook For the Season

Football at Big Colleges

By TOMMY CLARK.
The whirl of the pigskin will hold lovers of the checkerboard game in its grasp from now on until the latter part of November. The candidates for the different teams have been hard at work for the past few weeks, and as the wedding stage has been reached a fairly good line on different elevens can be given.

The fact that no radical changes have been made in the rules of the game has been of great assistance to the coaches in whipping their teams into something like first class condition early in the season. Heretofore when important changes were made in the rules, as they have been nearly every year until the present since the great upheaval in 1906, coaches have had to devote a great portion of their time to explaining the changes to their charges.

How the Elevens Size Up.
As far as veterans are concerned Princeton and Harvard have slightly the better of the other elevens in the east. The Tigers have all but three of the men who started against Yale last year. These men are: White and Dunlap; ends; Brown, a tackle; Wilson and McCormick, guards;

Photos by American Press Association.

THREE VETERANS OF LAST SEASON WHO EXPECT TO SHINE IN EASTERN GAMES.
Blumenthal, center; Pendleton, a half-back; and Captain Hart, fullback. There are also a number of excellent substitutes trying for the team, so that optimism reigns supreme in Tiger-town.

Sometimes a team is handicapped by too many veterans, because this condition of things tends to make a team overconfident and keeps down the list of new candidates. This may or may not prove to be the case at Princeton. Prospects at Yale are rosy enough, although the Elis have lost more men than Princeton. Captain Howe and Fullback Kistler are the only veterans in the back field. Daly and Field having graduated, the latter now acting as head coach. In the line Kilpatrick is gone at one end and Morris is missing at center. Scully and Paul are back at tackle, and Childs should make a capable guard.

Yale's greatest good fortune is the possession of Howe as quarterback. This is his third year on the Yale team. He held down the position on Captain Cox's very high perfect eleven in 1909, and last year he was about all that stood between the team and utter rout. Harvard has lost but few players, the principal losses being McKay, the All American tackle; Withington, his mate on the other side of the line; O'Flaherty, quarterback, and Minot, fullback. With the exception of McKay these positions will be easily filled. Last year Harvard had a number of high class backs—enough, in fact, for two or three back fields. Potter is likely to be first choice for quarterback, with Campbell and Wendell completing the quartet.

In the number of veterans lost Pennsylvania suffers far worse than either Princeton or Yale. In some ways the Red and Blue is more fortunate than appears from the foregoing. This is due to the fact that there is some unusually good material from the 1910 freshmen eleven, which was the champion first team of the east.

Pennsylvania's real problem will be, as heretofore, the development of a heavy line. This will be the more difficult because, as a rule, the Quakers are not blessed with an abundance of heavy men.

Cornell has brighter prospects than for a number of years on account of the large number of men from last year's eleven who are eligible this fall and the efficiency of the coaching system, which is regarded as the best in years. Last fall Cornell developed a lot of green men into a fairly good football team. This year the coaches hope to reap their reward.

The fact that the annual contest between the elevens of the Naval and Military academies will this year break the tie occasioned by the seven victories of each service team gives special interest to the football season at Annapolis and West Point. Last year the Navy won, a field goal being the only score of the game. This year neither team loses heavily by graduation, and one of the stiffest games in the series is expected.

Western Football Outlook.
In the west a splendid fight for the conference eight title is anticipated. Although Michigan is out of the fold, there is one game which will furnish a line on the comparative strength of Michigan and other members of the conference. Nebraska will meet both Minnesota and Michigan, and the results of these contests should go a long way in determining the relative strength of the Wolverines and Gophers.

Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan will put the most formidable elevens on the fields. Wisconsin is again an unknown quantity, as is Chicago and Northwestern. Iowa rejoices in the return of practically all of its veterans of last year, and the Hawkeyes may cut considerable figure.

Purdue, with a disastrous season last year, is hopeful, and Coach Horr has the nucleus of a fast team. Chicago and Northwestern have suffered most by desertions, at least at this stage, the gloom at the two institutions being thick enough to cut with an ax. Coach Stagg has lost practically all of his last year's stars, and Coach Hammond of the purple squad is in the same boat.

Cornell Sheldon of Indiana will have a good team, according to reports. Minnesota, according to reports, should have a better team than last year, when the Gophers disputed with Michigan the championship of the west. Enough of the old men are back to give the machine the proper impetus at the start, and new men are available to keep it going to the finish without a hitch.

THREE OF THE LEADING GRIDIRON WARRIORS IN THE WEST.
Walker of Minnesota, Rademacher of Chicago and MacMillan of Wisconsin.

Michigan will not suffer if the dope is read right. Coach Yost has plenty of old and new material to turn out a winning combination. Among the newcomers especially there are several stars who are likely to be heard from.

At the University of Wisconsin two former gridiron stars are in charge. John Richard and Earl Driver, two of the best players whom the Badger in situation ever turned out, will try to put the Cardinals back on their feet.

Illinois, which claimed the championship of the west last year, will be back with as strong if not a stronger team. That is not according to the coaches, but the students can see nothing but a victory over Minnesota, which is the principal aim in life at the university for the time being.

The strong teams are not confined to the "big eight" or to Michigan. There are plenty of others on the border land of greatness. Notre Dame and Marquette elevens will probably show the others the way to the goal posts. Lake Forest and De Paul teams also are promising, while Nebraska must be considered on par with some of the "big eight" elevens.

Rubbing It In.
Patient (anxiously)—The size of your bill makes my blood boil. Doctor—Then that will be $20 more for sterilizing your system. — Boston Transcript.

SELECT CULLINGS

A Tale of Two Cities.
The Baltimore Sun is piqued at the Cleveland Plain Dealer for "rubbing it in" on the Monument City. The Sun doesn't like it a little bit that the P. D. insists on carrying at the head of the editorial page the words, "Cleveland—Sixth City." Baltimore used to be No. 6 in Uncle Sam's list and Cleveland No. 7, but last year the positions were reversed when noses were counted. The Sun, getting in behind the "quality is better than quantity" slogan, explains and threatens thus: "After the fire of 1904 (Baltimore) was so busy building houses, stores, hotels and factories that it neglected the census returns. So Cleveland managed to steal a base on us and slip into sixth place. Baltimore didn't mind that so much, but if she has to face that legend that has been nailed up in the Plain Dealer, has to look at it every day for nine years, she will be likely to take under her wing a dozen or two of her dourishing suburbs and make Cleveland take down its sign."

Electricity From the Stars.
Experiments conducted in Ireland. If they are to be trusted, reveal a distinct electromotive force exercised by the stars. Using a reflecting telescope of two feet aperture to concentrate the star rays and a sensitive electrometer to note their influence, the experimenters had reason to believe that they were able not only to detect, but to measure, the electromotive force of both stars and planets. To Venus, for example, they ascribed a force of about seventeen one-hundredths of a volt and to Jupiter a force of at least three one-hundredths of a volt. In the case of Jupiter only a part of the planet's light fell upon the electrometer, so that the experimenters inferred that his entire influence must be much greater than that stated. Sirius, which appears to us as the brightest of the fixed stars, showed a force amounting to two one-hundredths of a volt.—Harper's Weekly.

Across the Dark Continent.
The time is not far distant when it will be possible to make a very comfortable excursion across the width of the African continent as well as the length. All are more or less familiar with the progress of the Cape to Cairo railroad, which is pushing in a northerly direction, but the other trip will be made feasible by the completion of the railroad which is to connect Dar-es-Salaam to Ujiji, on Lake Tanganyika. There are now 10,000 workmen on the 347 mile stretch from the first named place to Tabora, in German East Africa, which work is being pursued by the German government. After this the road will be extended to Ujiji, and from that point there is already a chain of railroad and boat connections to the mouth of the Congo.

A Sartorial Comedy.
Considerable excitement was caused in the Italian senate the other day, writes a correspondent, by one of the ministers, and under-secretary of the interior, Signor Falconi, entering the sacred precincts dressed in a fancy pattern morning coat instead of the black frock coat which is de rigueur. Several senators on seeing him take his seat on the government bench went walked out as a mark of protest. Later, when he arose to make a speech, the opposition to his doing so in his unusual attire was so strong that Signor Falconi left the senate chamber, returning in a minute in the frock coat of an usher, loaned him for the occasion. On his reappearance he was loudly cheered.—London Globe.

Mother of Clubs.
The first woman's club in America was organized in New Harmony by the late Mrs. Constance Runcle on Sept. 20, 1855. This was nine years before the organization of the Sorosis club of New York. In 1867 Mrs. Runcle formed the Bronte club and later became the head of an organization which has since that time borne her name and of which she was elected president for life. At the biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs held in St. Paul five years ago the title of "mother of clubs" was conferred upon her, and two years later, at a similar gathering in Boston, she was received with signal honors as the pioneer in the club movement.—Outlook.

Searchlights in War.
One would suppose that powerful searchlights would illuminate fields of battle best by night, in order to discover and bring in the wounded. But experiments in France prove the contrary. They are of small benefit, because the slightest obstruction—such as a house or slight irregularity on the earth's surface—will create a great cone of shadow, within which nothing can be seen. The best device tried so far is the individual acetylene lamp, carried on the backs or in the hands of the hospital corps when going over the field with their litters.

Persia Bans Jules Verne.
The censor of literature in Persia has banned a Persian translation of Jules Verne's "Voyage to the Moon" on the ground that it is irreligious, and from his point of view he is right. It will be remembered that a party of scientists was shut up in a shell which was fired at the moon from a great gun. Now, the moon is Mohammed's coffin, and to shoot at the moon is a crime in Persia. It is true that the shell didn't hit the moon, but the intention constituted the crime in Persia.—New York Press.

First Veterinary School.
As nearly as the facts can be got at the first veterinary school was founded in the city of Lyons, France, about the middle of May of the year 1761. Since 1761 veterinary schools have spread all over the civilized world, especially in Germany, France, England and the United States of America, in which advanced countries the horse has the benefit of as fine a science as that which exists for his master, man.—New York American.

The Scrap Book

Her Adonis.
In the negro car of a railway train in one of the gulf states a bridal couple were riding—a very light, rather good looking colored girl and a typical full blooded negro of possibly a reverted type, with receding forehead, protruding eyes, broad, flat nose, very thick lips and almost no chin. He was positively and aggressively ugly. They had been married just before boarding the train and, like a good many of their white brothers and sisters, were very much interested in each other, regardless of the amusement of their neighbors. After various "billings and cooings" the man sank down in the seat and, resting his head on the lady's shoulder, looked soulfully up into her eyes.

She looked fondly down upon him and after a few minutes murmured gently, "Laws' honey, ain't yo' 'shamed to be so han'some?"—Youth's Companion.

Little Things.
A goodby kiss is a little thing. With your hand on the door to go. But it takes the venom out of the sting Of a thoughtless word or a cruel fling That you made an hour ago.

A kiss of greeting is sweet and rare.
After the toll of the day, And it smooths the furrows plowed by care, The lines on the forehead you once called fair.

In the years that have flown away,
'Tis a little thing to say, "You are kind; I love you, my dear," each night. But it sends a thrill through the heart, I find— For love is tender and love is blind— As we climb life's rugged height.

We starve each other for love's caress;
We take, but we do not give. It seems so easy some soul to bless. But we dole the love grudgingly, less and less. Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.

Completing the Order.
A dear little old lady who has no idea at all that she is old made a discovery the other day. She overheard her grand nephew telling another young man something about the excellence of the "free lunch" served at a certain big New York hotel. In the innocence of her perfectly dear old soul she put the information down in her memory for future reference.

Soon after that she happened to be attending a concert at this same hotel, and the party—herself, her nephew and niece—went to the tea room later for a bit of refreshment. The tea was ordered, and then the dear little old lady looked at the waiter and with a sweet, old fashioned smile and a suggestion of triumph in her manner, said:

"And you may bring us also some free lunch."—New York Press.

Foolish Delay.
A company of colored actors was playing "Othello" in Alabama. Everything had gone along nicely until they came to the scene where Desdemona's fidelity is to be tested. Iago has secured her handkerchief by cajolery, with the connivance of Othello himself, that her incontinence may be established.

Othello—Desdemona, where art that handkerchief? (Desdemona remains silent.)
Othello—Desdemona, once more I ask you where art that handkerchief?
At this juncture an old negro woman in the front of the house rose furiously from her seat. "Go way, yo' fool niggah!" she exclaimed loudly. "Wipe yonah nose on yonah sleeve and let dis play go on!"

Hall Caine's Role.
Hall Caine, with his long hair, his beard and his flowing cape, is fairly well known to everybody, if only from photographs. This fact encourages one to tell a story.

It happened when one of Mr. Caine's plays was running at the Wild-horses-won't-drag-it-name-from-us theater. The author decided that the least he could do after the performance was to go round and congratulate the leading lady. So when the curtain fell he went round behind and tapped at the lady's dressing room door.

The lady sent her maid to see who it was. The maid went.
Now, the passage outside was rather dimly lit, and when the maid opened the door and saw a strange looking figure standing outside she promptly ejaculated "Oh!" in a tone of extreme surprise, shut the door and returned to her mistress in a state of some bewilderment.

"Well," asked the leading lady, "who is it?"
"I—I scarcely know, miss," gasped the maid, then, as a brilliant afterthought, "unless it's the bearded lady!" —London Tatler.

Her Answer.
He—I am going to make you a present of a bracelet for your birthday. Which do you prefer—silver or gold?
She is silent.
He—Well, which do you want?
She is silent still.
He—Why don't you speak? I ask you which do you prefer—silver or gold?
Then he suddenly remembered that "silence is golden."

GOOD RESULTS FROM THE ORINE TREATMENT FOR DRUNKENNESS

The makers of ORINE have thousands of letters of praise from grateful patients and the families of those who have been cured of Drunkenness by this wonderful remedy. There is scarcely a town or city in this country but that has one or more homes that have been benefited, because some one of its members has been restored to a useful and sober man through the help of ORINE. As long as men will drink intoxicating beverages to excess ORINE will have a work to perform, and because it performs it effectually, it is today recognized by the best medical physicians, philanthropists, mission workers, and druggists as the standard remedy for the cure of Drunkenness. Many of these druggists have been selling ORINE for years and are intimately acquainted with the beneficial results received by those who have used it, and they know the Orine Co. lives up to their guarantee, consequently they feel it is a moral and public duty to give expression to their views concerning a remedy which has accomplished so much good in their community.

The Orine Co. publishes a booklet—it is free. In this booklet you'll find a number of letters from druggists who tell what they know about ORINE. Get a copy and learn how Drunkenness can be cured. You can get a copy from Haber's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa. or the Orine Co., Washington, D. C., who will mail it in plain sealed envelope.

ORINE is prepared in two forms—No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. ORINE No. 2 in pill form. Is for those who wish to cure themselves. You run no risk whatever in using this remedy as it is sold on an absolute guarantee to effect a cure or money refunded. The guarantee is in each box. ORINE costs only $1 a box.

The Argan Tree.
Among the most remarkable trees of the world is the argan, which abounds in southern Morocco, but is seldom seen elsewhere. A "forest" of argans has a curious scattered appearance because the trees grow singly and far apart. They are very leafy, but seldom exceed twenty feet in height. The branches put out horizontally and begin a yard above the ground. Sheep, cattle and camels feed on the leaves, and goats will stand on their hind legs to reach them, but horses and mules refuse to touch them. The wood is very hard and extremely useful to the natives, who make charcoal from it. The fruit, resembling a large olive, is used to feed cattle and to manufacture a valuable oil. It also furnishes the principal sustenance of many of the poorer natives.—Scientific American.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur
Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. People's Drug Store, Special Agent for Gettysburg.
